

Asase Yaa African-American Dance Theater

Courtesy of 52Shades Photography

Music! Dance! Rhythm & Songs!

You won't want to miss this dynamic and spirited dance company as they share the rich traditions of dance and culture from the African Diaspora.

Journey with these Griots as they teach about the rich history, culture, traditions and customs.

Saturday, April 21, 2007 – 3 PM
Museum of the City of New York
1220 Fifth Avenue At 103rd Street

Presented in conjunction with Community Works & New Heritage Theater Group
as part of its harlem is... public art and education program.

Complimentary Admission for Friends of Community Works,
New Heritage Theatre Group and The Harlem Arts Alliance

A donation is always appreciated; please stop by the Front Desk for your admission.

GROUPS of 6 or more please RSVP at 212-459-1854